

Reference Letter

To whom it may concern,

I am writing to recommend Alex Hajdu, who has been working with us at PortalOne as an Unreal Engine Developer since September 2022.

In my capacity as Lead Unreal Engine Developer, I had the pleasure of supervising Alex directly and observing his strong technical and collaborative performance across multiple critical areas of our mobile game development.

From the very beginning, Alex demonstrated exceptional initiative, professionalism, and a deep understanding of C++ and Unreal Engine.

He consistently delivered high-quality, maintainable code and contributed significantly to the overall architecture of our project.

Among his notable contributions were the implementation of the monetization framework, the development of first-time user experience tutorials, as well as extensive optimization and bug fixing work that improved the stability and performance of our mobile game.

Alex's approach to problem-solving is both structured and creative: he quickly grasps complex systems, proposes efficient solutions, and follows through with clean, well-documented implementations. He has a clear sense of ownership over his work and a strong ability to balance performance considerations with maintainability.

Beyond his technical skills, Alex has been an excellent team player. He collaborated effectively with game designers, artists, and marketing teams, ensuring that technical execution aligned seamlessly with creative and product goals. His positive attitude, adaptability, and proactive communication made him a valued member of the team and someone people genuinely enjoy working with.

I am confident that Alex will bring the same level of technical excellence, initiative, and collaboration to any future project or organization he joins.
